eView Technologies Introduces New Box Camera Design For Video Surveillance Security

eView Technologies' eAIS-2410 camera employs Infrared-Cut Filter and Light Perception

WASHINGTON, DC (December 14, 2007)... eView Technologies, a Security Automation Management company providing intelligent video surveillance technologies, today announced introduction of new Day/Night camera embedded with Sony's Advanced Imagery Sensor (AIS).

eView Technologies' new eAIS-2410 camera employs 1/3" Sony CCD and provides high resolution CCTV imagery with 600 TVL, while requiring a minimum illumination of 0.1 and 0.05Lux/F1.2 (B/W). With an AES/DC auto iris function, and a dual power compatibility of 12V DC Power supply, eAIS-2410 produces one of the sharpest CCTV security images.

"The dust proof design of the eAIS-2410 camera sets a new standard in digital CCTV security camera performance and versatility," said Ariella Friedman, eView Technologies' spokesperson. "Powerful, durable, yet slim enough to fit in any application, the eAIS-2410 camera is designed for capturing amazing security and surveillance images, anytime, anywhere."

As a Surveillance Security product manufacturer, eView Technologies employs top brand name components from well known manufacturer such as SONY, SHARP, PANASONIC, LG and more. Additionally, to establish high standards, eView Technologies' DVRs are manufactured employing Dell Servers with Microsoft Operating System.
